

Statement by the NIHR on the Occasion of the United Nations Day

Manama on October 24, 2022

On the 24th of October every year, the National Institution for Human Rights (NIHR) is sharing with the countries of the world the celebration of the United Nations Day, in order to commemorate the entry into force of the Charter of the United Nations in 1945, which this year marks the 77th anniversary of the establishment of the UN and its founding Charter.

This occasion is an opportunity to introduce and raise awareness of the UN Charter as a comprehensive document of all human values and principles of peace and justice among the world, wince the world celebrates this day to emphasise the importance of the goals for which the United Nations Organisation works.

On this occasion, the National Institution for Human Rights (NIHR) commends the tireless efforts of the United Nations and its agencies and bodies in supporting the peoples of the world with regard to issues related to peace, security, development and human rights, especially at a time when the world is witnessing massive disturbance and crises with severe economic and social consequences.

On this occasion, the NIHR states that it works with its broad mandate to follow-up and monitor commitment to international conventions and treaties ratified by the Kingdom of Bahrain, which are related to the promotion and protection of human rights, looking forward to more cooperation and partnership with all agencies and bodies of the United Nations, in order to build an integrated system to implement the principles of human rights for all countries and peoples of the world.
